

The undersigned Commodore of His Majesty's Ship and Vessel on the Coast of Africa, takes leave to acquaint the Commisary Judges of the British and Portuguese Mixed Commission for the suppression of illegal traffic in Slaves, that there are on board His Majesty's Ship Tarter under his command fifty four male and three female Slaves, being the survivors of Sixty Male Slaves and five female Slaves, removed by the Commodore's order from the Portuguese Slave Vessel, named St. Antonio, in the Margin, and captured as set forth in the Commodore's former declaration, being part of that Vessel's Cargo. Eight have died on the passage, as most of the Slaves so removed were afflicted with Dysentery, and other diseases incidental to an African Slave. Hold the number of deaths may not appear extraordinary.

The Commodore has therefore to desire that these Slaves may be landed forthwith in order to their passing thro' the Registry of the said Court.
